A Selection of Books, Articles and Videos about Cultural Awareness

Why I'm No Longer Talking to White People About Race - Reni Eddo-Lodge
The book that sparked a national conversation. Exploring everything from eradicated black history to the inextricable link between class and race, Why I'm No Longer Talking to White People About Race is the essential handbook for anyone who wants to understand race relations in Britain today.

White Fragility: Why it is so hard for white people to talk about racism - Robin DiAngelo 'With clarity and compassion, DiAngelo allows us to understand racism as a practice not restricted to "bad people." In doing so, she moves our national discussions forward. This is a necessary book for all people invested in societal change'

Claudia Rankine

The Good Immigrant - Nikesha Shukla
Bringing together 21 exciting black, Asian and minority ethnic voices emerging in Britain today, explores why immigrants

come to the UK

An urgent collection of essays by first- and second-generation immigrants, exploring what it's like to be othered in an increasingly divided America

Black and British: A Forgotten History - David Olusoga
In this vital re-examination of a shared history, historian and broadcaster David Olusoga tells the rich and revealing story of the long relationship between the British Isles and the people of Africa and the Caribbean.

Natives, race, and class in the ruins of Empire - Akala
From the first time he was stopped and searched as a child, to the day he realised his mum was white, to his first encounters with racist teachers - race and class have shaped Akala's life and outlook. In this unique book he takes his own experiences and widens them out to look at the social, historical and political factors that have left us where we are today.

Small Great Things - Jodi Picoult
When a newborn baby dies after a routine hospital procedure, there is no doubt about who will be held responsible: the nurse who had been banned from looking after him by his father.

Small Great Things* is about prejudice and power; it is about that which divides and unites us.

Racism and Antiracism: Inequalities, Opportunities and Policies

Peter Braham
How racist is society today? How have the patterns of discrimination and disadvantage changed over the past twenty years? This key text explores the nature and extent of racial discrimination, and the successes and failures of equal opportunities programmes.

Working with Ethnicity, Race and Culture in Mental Health: A Handbook for Practitioners
Hári Sewell

This book enables front line practitioners to understand why it is important to consider the specific needs of people from black and minority ethnic (BME) backgrounds in mental health settings. It offers practical guidance on how practitioners can take positive steps to improve the quality of their work and their relationships with BME service users, and ultimately how to improve their outcomes.

Diversity and cultural awareness in nursing practice
Beverley Brathwaite
As a nurse responsible for providing person-centred care it is vital that you understand how culture and diversity affect patients' experience of health care. Ensuring that you are able to communicate effectively with people from across the social spectrum and tailor your nursing practice to the needs of the individual is not simple but this book will provide you with the knowledge, awareness and skills to do it.

Ethnicity, Race, and Health in Multicultural Societies: Foundations for Better Epidemiology, Public Health, and Health Care
Raj S. Bhopal

Most of the industrialized world now comprises multi-ethnic societies, with people from widely varying ancestry, cultures, languages, and beliefs. With the globalization of trade, increasing international travel, and migration, the whole world is destined to become multi-ethnic within the next 20 or 30 years. This change poses huge challenges for doctors, nurses, public health practitioners, health-care managers, and policy makers who have to meet legal and policy obligations to deliver health outcomes, and provide health-care of equal quality and effectiveness.

Mental Health, Race and Culture
Suman Fernando

This is the third, significantly expanded and revised, edition of this seminal text. Incorporating additional contemporary topics, including mental health of refugees, trauma and psychosocial approaches, this text offers an illuminating account of mental health and mental disorder seen cross-culturally and internationally.

Racism and Mental Health: Prejudice and Suffering

Kamaldeep Bhui

This thought-provoking book investigates the impact of racism (both conscious and unconscious) in mental health settings, covering individual clinical encounters and the broader picture of service provision.

Transcultural concepts in nursing care
Margaret Andrews, Joyceen Boyle.

This text conveys the importance of diverse cultural knowledge for evaluation of patient outcomes, understanding persons in clinical settings, and appropriate responses during the nurse/client interaction.

So You Want to Talk About Race
Ijeoma Oluo

A contemporary, accessible take on the racial landscape in America, addressing head-on such issues as privilege, police brutality, intersectionality, micro-aggressions, the Black Lives Matter movement, and the "N" word. Perfectly positioned to bridge the gap between people of color and white Americans struggling with race complexities.

International Handbook of Black Community Mental Health
Richard Majors (Editor)

This is the first international handbook on Black community mental health, focussing on key issues including stereotypes in Mental health, misdiagnoses, and inequalities/discrimination around access, services and provisions.

How to Be Less Stupid about Race: On Racism, White Supremacy, and the Racial Divide
Crystal M Fleming

Combining no-holds-barred social critique, humorous personal anecdotes, and analysis of the latest interdisciplinary scholarship on systemic racism, sociologist Crystal M. Fleming provides a fresh, accessible, and irreverent take on everything that's wrong with our "national conversation about race." Drawing upon critical race theory, as well as her own experiences as a queer black millennial college professor and researcher, Fleming unveils how systemic racism exposes us all to racial ignorance--and provides a road map for transforming our knowledge into concrete social change.

Race and Risk – Exploring UK Social Policy and the Development of Modern Mental Health Services

Clarke, P. (2020), "Race and Risk – Exploring UK Social Policy and the Development of Modern Mental Health Services",

Majors, R., Carberry, K. and Ransaw, T.S. (Ed.)

The International Handbook of Black Community Mental Health, pp. 149-162

Abstract

A literature review plus reference to case studies will form the basis of the chapter. What is the relationship between modern racism?

(To obtain a copy of this chapter or to borrow the book it is taken from, please contact any Trust Library.)

Letter to a White Man

It wasn't until relatively recently that I began to recognize the racist ideas that I've carried with me for much of my life. While I've still got a lot to learn (and unlearn), I'm beginning to come to grips with my contribution to the continued inequities in America.

Akala deconstructs race, class, and Britain's modern myths

Rapper, poet and scholar Akala joins James O'Brien for a scintillating interview, in which they discuss two issues that run to the heart of modern Britain: race and class. In a breakneck hour of conversation, Akala picks apart many of the modern myths around gangs, street violence and black youth, looking at the ways these are perpetuated in the media and who benefits from perpetuating them, as well as looking back to the Windrush generation and the institutionalised injustices that led to the recent crisis.
